Analyze the LEA's data (including sections 2.6) and answer the guiding questions to determine existing trends and patterns that support the identification of needs related to a supportive learning environment. Complete a data-informed self-rating for each Georgia School Performance Standard (GSPS). Student subgroups with a count of less than 15 are denoted by "TFS" (too few students). See the Supportive Learning Environment webinar for additional information and guidance.

What does the perception data tell you?	Our greatest strengths are our curriculum planning procedures, assessments being aligned with curriculum standards, and our teachers enjoy working and planning together. Most of our teachers do a very good job establishing and communicating learning targets to their students. Teachers and students share a common vision of building a community and learning to live by a school based Spartan Creed.
	Our greatest needs are students being aware of their progress and actively monitoring it, and engaging students, parents, and community members in the school community and culture. Through Spartan Lens data, we also saw a need to create meaningful use of technology and use it to enhance instruction. We could also improve by creating positive relationships with students as staff that fosters success including celebrating achievements.

What process data did you use?	Leadership Team Meetings
What process data are you use.	Spartan Lens Results Data
	Content Meetings
	PLC Meetings
	School Improvement Team Meetings
	ı
	TKES Data
	Achievement Data

What does your process data tell you?	Our greatest strengths are the variety of processes we have in place to help support our teachers and students. Teachers meet as content teams, RTI teams, Grade Level teams, and Teaching teams. There are multiple opportunities for leadership opportunities among teachers. Teachers come together as leaders to discuss school practices, processes, and procedures in a variety of different groupings to learn what is needed for both our students as well as our teachers. All teachers participate in PLCs, and progress is being made for students and teachers as a result of these PLC groups.

What does your process data tell you?	Our greatest challenges are parent and community involvement, specifically seen in involvement with curriculum nights and parent involvement with their child's content teachers, students monitoring their own progress and showing growth, and we have a weakness in literacy across content areas. When looking at achievement data, and having discussions as content teams, a School Improvement team, and others, a weakness in literacy was evident. Teachers need additional help with teaching strategies, specifically related to literacy.
	While Spartan Lens was successful in its first year, more work with teachers observing other teachers and looking for specific expectations is needed as well as what to think about and consider when analyzing data collected throughout the day.

What does your achievement data tell you?	There were a variety of strengths seen within the achievement data. There was an increased in the number of distinguished learners vs proficient learners when looking at EOC and EOG data. We also had high pass rate in Coordinate Algebra (EOC), 6th grade math, and 7th grade math. We noticed more students tested out of the ESOL program based on ACCESS scores compared to previous years (We know cut scores have changed, so we would like to look at this next year to see if this continues.)

	Our greatest challenges are reading and writing across grade levels, literacy, 8th grade math, and 8th grade science. These areas are all possibly affected by low literacy and vocabulary ability. There is a gap in achievement between our students of different ethnicities and different socioeconomic levels. The progression of standardized assessments being converted from paper to computer has shown a challenge for our economically disadvantaged students and their success because of the lack of access to technology at home.

Γ	What demographic data did you use?	Enrollment
ı		Attendance
ı		Race, Ethnicity, Gender
ı		Sub Groups (ELL, SPED, ED)
ı		Grade Level
		Discipline

What does the demographic data tell you?

A positive trend is more students are testing out of ELL. We are also seeing a mostly positive trend in relation to our work with PBIS and our students discipline. We have seen an increase in enrollment for the past several years. The demographics of our enrollments have mostly been evenly distributed across our demographics.

Our challenges are within our subgroups. We also have challenges with reoccurring discipline issues. Even though overall we are seeing a positive trend, we have not been using PBIS or a common approach across grade levels, and this can be seen in our data. A trend we are seeing is a struggle with parent involvement, specifically within our subgroups. About 20- 25% of our students struggle with excessive absences and tardies, which affects their school performance. This could also relate to our population and their family life and lack of parent involvement.

3. NEEDS IDENTIFICATION AND ROOT CAUSE ANALYSIS

3.1 Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Read the trends and patterns summaries from each section of the data analysis process. Use the information in these summaries to complete 3.2 and 3.3. Using the summaries in 3.1 and other local data, describe the strengths and challenges or answer the guiding questions for each program. Include strengths and challenges related to: a) general program implementation, and b) students and adults involved in or affected by the program. Focus on strengths and challenges that will assist in the identification of needs during 3.2. Watch the Identifying Need webinar for additional information and guidance.

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Coherent Instructional:Summarize the coherent instructional system trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

Strengths we have found through this process is that our content and assessments are aligned to state standards and most of our classrooms are supportive and well-managed. Our grade levels have common planning and common meeting times, which helps teachers plan and prepare their lessons and align them to standards. However, based on survey and Spartan Lens data, more work is needed in the areas of differentiation, students monitoring their progress, effective use of technology to enhance student learning, and using common learning targets with fidelity.

Effective Leadership:Summarize the effective leadership trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

Administration uses systems to ensure effective implementation of curriculum, assessment, instruction, and professional practices, as well as data-driven and consensus-oriented processes to develop and implement a school improvement plan that is focused on student performance. A common vision is shared that defines the school culture and guides the continuous improvement process. Surveys and staff reporting reveal that more work is needed to build and sustain relationships to foster the success of students and staff.

Professional Capacity:Summarize the professional capacity trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

All instructional staff participate in job embedded professional learning in Professional Learning Communities (PLCs), professional learning using Harvey Silver strategies, and Spartan Lens to support various learning needs of students and the instructional needs of teachers. However, there is not a process to monitor and evaluate the impact of professional learning on staff practices and student learning beyond initial follow up with feedback and the opportunity for reflection.

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Family and Community

Engagement:Summarize the family and community engagement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

Family and Community Engagement is an overall challenge for our school. We do seem to have a strength in connecting families with agencies and resources in the community to meet the needs of our students, mostly through the counseling office as well as support from our parent liaison. Our parent liaison has worked to create relationships with our families, sharing school information, parenting help, and community resources to help our families be more engaged within our school. We struggle to get parents and community members into our building. We have the most success during Open House and Awards Day. We struggle with parent participation during curriculum nights, Title 1 meetings, extra-curricular activities, and parent-teacher conferences. Our survey results showed that that there is improvement to be made in developing the capacity of families to use support strategies at home that will enhance academic achievement.

Supportive Learning

Environment:Summarize the supportive learning environment trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

A common vision and mission has been developed through a collaborative process and communicated to most stakeholders defining the culture of the school. While it is well known to members of the school community, our vision should guide the continuous improvement of our school. Overall, we have success creating an academically challenging learning environment that is supportive and well-managed. Our school supports the personal growth and development of our students through programs like advisement, extra-curricular activities, and clubs. A struggle to recognize and celebrate the achievements and accomplishments of students and staff was observed in the report.

Demographic and Financial:Summarize the demographic and financial trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

The population of WHMS consists of a majority Hispanic learners. Sixty-seven percent of learners are economically disadvantaged, 24% of English Language Learners, and 14% are students with disabilities. The continued influx of primarily Spanish speaking families and meeting their needs is an ongoing challenge. Our students continue to need more support at school. Teachers and administrators recognized that we have to look at alternative or different ways to meet our students where they are and respond not only to their academic needs, but also their social and emotional needs.

Student Achievement:Summarize the student achievement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

Our CCPRI points from progress and achievement gap are making improvements. We have improved in these areas the past several years, though more improvement in our highest and lowest achievement areas are needed. More work is needed with our subgroups achievement. Professional Learning in the area of English Language Learners may be needed to help support our faculty. Grade levels are examining standards and expectations, sharing those expectations with parents and students, and we are working to improve their self-monitoring abilities with their growth. We have seen positive

Strengths	Students are offered a variety of instructional strategies to support their various learning needs. (Co-taught, resource, direct instruction, self-contained, ELL push in, ELL sheltered, monitored). Students who are served through our self-contained model are also provided the opportunity to access to the regular education community through the use of Anchor club, which provides opportunities to support their social growth.
Challenges	We continue to have an increase in our EL community from year to year.  Many of these students are new to the country, and speak very little English.  We have also seen an increase in our dual-served students. We show no green flags within our CCRPI reporting data in the areas of our economically disadvantages, EL population, and SPED population.

2. SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT GOALS

2.3 OverarchingNeed # 3

Overarching Need

Overarching Need as identified in	Increase student's ability to self-monitor their academic progress.
CNA Section 3.2
Root Cause # 1	Students struggle to determine which standards, domains, and indicators they have mastered throughout the course. Therefore, they need direction on how to navigate the most effective plan for content mastery based on what they have learned and what they still need to learn.
Goal	During the SY19-20, teachers will train students to effectively gauge their level of understanding of content standards, positive behavior progress, and identify potential areas for growth. In addition, students will gain the ability to determine more effectively their progress towards mastery in a particular course of study.

Action Step	Teachers will conduct one-on-one conferences with students in order to determine the students' ability to accurately monitor their academic and behavioral progress.

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT PLAN

3 Required Questions

Required Questions

1 In developing this plan, briefly describe how the school sought advice from individuals (teachers, staff, other school leaders, paraprofessionals, specialized instructional support personnel, parents, community partners, and other stakeholders) was accomplished. and reflections.

2 Describe how the school will ensure that low-income and minority children enrolled in the Title I school are not served at disproportionate rates by ineffective, out-of-field, or inexperienced teachers. All teachers are certified as highly qualified in their respective fields Continuous classroom evaluations to support teacher growth All teachers participate in Spartan Lens to identify and implement best practices

The Title 1 program at West Hall Middle School has two major focuses:

3 Provide a general description of the Title I instructional program being implemented at this Title I School. Specifically define the subject areas to be addressed and the instructional strategies/methodologies to be employed to address the identified needs of the most academically at-risk students in the school. Please include services to be provided for students living in local institutions for neglected or delinquent children (if applicable).

1. A collaborative approach to school improvement/professional development.
2. The use of innovative curricular practice to enhance educational opportunities and behavioral supports for all students.

The first approach specifically addresses ways in which to bolster parent and community buy-in. This approach considers ways in which to dynamically support parents of all students, particularly the economically disadvantaged, English-language learners, minority students, special education students, homeless/foster children, and migrant students. This goal includes action steps that will directly involve parents in decision making, along with strategies for supporting students at home. The first approach also increases teacher/teacher collaboration to ensure that best practices are utilized in all settings and that the learning environment is consistently supported. A great deal of this work will be supported by Spartan Lens and PLC conversations

The second approach focuses on specific skills and strategies both academic and behavioral that may be implemented within distinctive math, science, language arts, and social studies classrooms. This goal relates to innovative practice and includes rigor, acceleration, and remediation as needed. Our Title 1 budget allocates for remediation teachers who provide direct support to struggling students in the areas of math and language arts. Our Title 1 budget also strives to place resources in the hands of all students in an effort to emphasize long-range learning plans, formative assessments, and electronic resources like Canvas. Finally, our Title 1 budget allocates for instructional coaches who ensure that teaching strategies across our setting are equitable. It also allocates for intervention teachers to help us support students.

4 If applicable, provide a description of how teachers, in consultation with parents, administrators, and pupil services personnel, will identify eligible children most in need of services in Title I targeted assistance schools/programs. Please include a description of how the school will develop and implement multiple (a minimum of 2) objective, academic-based performance criteria to rank students for service. Also include a description of the measurable scale (point system) that uses the objective criteria to rank all students.

Parents of students at West Hall Middle School are given opportunities to participate in forums and discussions regarding high school level coursework, GPA, and college/career pathways.

7 Describe how the school will support efforts to reduce the overuse of discipline practices that remove students from the classroom, specifically addressing the effects on all subgroups of students.

Our school is currently implementing PBIS. A PBIS team is currently in place, and the team has completed professional learning. They are now in the process of training teachers and students during implementation. Discipline data is frequently monitored by administration to ensure that all infractions are addressed with equity across grade levels and demographics. Matrices are utilized by school administrators as they make decisions regarding behavior consequences. This ensures that infractions are treated with consistency across all contexts.
